LETTER FROM THE DIRECTOR

It is a pleasure to meet again, and, first of all, to express the joy of Red Deporte for having overcome some difficult years, for everyone.

2021 began with a slow restart of our activity. Without yet removing the mask, we begin to carry out face-to-face activities regularly. Little by little, we were divesting ourselves of this everyday object so full of symbolism. As this two-year journey concludes, it is nothing more than a memory: yes, sad for many, but also a symbol of victory over a sometimes devastating disease.

For our part, it has been a dizzying event, which has concluded with the arrival of our organization to the heart of Madrid. Specifically, to the Pilar neighborhood, with the opening of a headquarters and training center; a space open to all young people and social organizations that use sport as a tool for social change.

Going deeper into Africa, the footprint of these two years is present in the construction of the sports center in Zambia, which is very advanced and will open its doors in 2023.

But without a doubt our great objective in these two years and those to come is to protect girls and young people from what is possibly the greatest human scourge: trafficking and prostitution mafias. A reality that shrinks the heart and is ignored by almost everyone, despite generating more than ten thousand victims each year, only in countries like Nepal.

Since, first of all, this entity emerged with the objective of fighting poverty, and poverty is the main cause of vulnerability and subsequent criminalization by these networks, we are going to stand up to it through employment and empowering the girls and young people themselves to prevent and combat human trafficking.

We welcome the next two years full of hope; a trip that will undoubtedly be worth it in the company of our friends, collaborators and the most important people: the young people on whom we pour our effort and dedication.

A strong hug,

Carlos de Cárcer

Director of Fundación Red Deporte y Cooperación

UNITED WE BEAT COVID... AND WE CAN DO MUCH MORE!

We have won the battle against COVID, and we must undoubtedly celebrate this victory of science, but, above all, of society. There have been years of many restrictions, but the big question is will it return? Or better yet, are we better prepared for a next pandemic? Without a doubt the answer is yes.

However, we must not let our guard down, and continue to focus on educating in shared responsibility and group-based protection, as the best recipe to fight the most serious problems against a pandemic.

Over the course of three years we have conveyed this message to numerous spaces and educational centers, and on entertaining conversations. Transferring, through football games and role-playing games, the different hypotheses about how to behave under the threat of a virus.

The other underlying question is what if we agreed to fix other problems, and felt them as ours? Surely we would obtain similar results. Let's not let our guard down, keep investigating and keep educating. Let's continue to be inspired by the very hard victory over COVID, together.

We will continue to carry this message wrapped in a balloon. These years of deprivation will thus have served to take the road towards a better and more united world.

PROJECT "HEALTH 360: FOOTBALL FOR A PROTECTED COMMUNITY"

Red Deporte has been working in Zambia since 1999, mainly in schools and sports spaces, as they are the most common meeting points for children and young people. Red Deporte works on the outskirts of Lusaka, the capital of Zambia, using sport as a connection point with the most vulnerable children and youth. As far as girls are concerned, there is the added risk of early pregnancy, which is a factor that can seriously affect poverty, dependency and falling into prostitution networks.

The natural attraction generated by sport makes it the ideal point to work on the empowerment of young people, creating a safe environment and belonging to a community of friends and positive values, which will guide them throughout their lives.

The playing field is transformed into a place of learning, with educational sessions on health. 30 monitors-coaches have been trained to conduct sports activities and events aimed at promoting community health.

Furthermore, with the additional support of Salesian Missions, a reference sports-educational center is being built, which will host more than two thousand participants in our programs weekly. In this center, the football for health program will be promoted and coordinated with 16 community schools.

GENERAL OBJECTIVE

Guarantee the right to health of children and young people

SPECIFIC OBJECTIVE

Create a football program around community health, which empowers, provides health care, reduces the risk of diseases and prevents harmful habits for 4,500 children and young people.

Red Deporte's health program revolves around three axes:

- 1. Communicable diseases: COVID-19, HIV-AIDS, malaria and basic hygiene.
- 2. Prevention of alcohol consumption and drugs.
- 3. Raise awareness about the importance of health for school performance and worklife.

CONSTRUCTION OF THE SPORTS CENTER

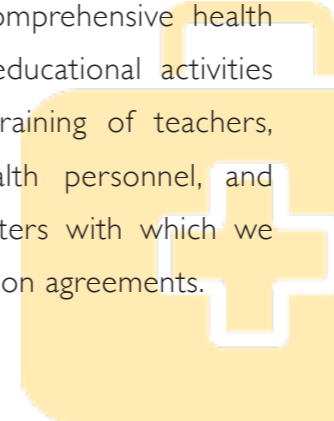

Days of great excitement in Lusaka with construction underway and training groups forming for the coming season. The center will accommodate sports such as Football, Basketball, Volleyball and Tag Rugby; with the undisputed prominence of football.

The construction of the center is possible thanks to the collaboration of the UEFA Foundation for Children, the Salesian Office of Madrid and Donosti Cup, in addition to contributions from private donors. The inauguration of the center is planned throughout 2023. The construction of this center is a very important step for Red Deporte, since it is intended to be the reference space for our programs in Africa, Latin America and Asia in the coming years.

HEALTH CARE IN COMMUNITY CLINICS

The “Health 360” concept that gives its name to the project is understood from its incorporation into health care for the vulnerable population in clinics and health centers. This comprehensive health concept includes educational activities through football, training of teachers, monitors and health personnel, and health care in centers with which we maintain collaboration agreements.

TRAINING OF COACHES AND MONITORS

So far, the project has trained 40 trainers, young women. The training allows them to organize, with solvency and autonomy, activities and programs that incorporate the “360 health” concept. The training takes place in the classroom and on the sports field, and the sessions incorporate theoretical content (around health issues) and practical content. Most of the sessions are being held at the Linda Compound community field.

EMPOWERMENT OF GIRLS

“Health 360” incorporates empowerment and gender equality in all its components. It is not easy, far from it, to achieve parity in terms of the participation of young people in activities, or their incorporation as monitors, since there are still many sociocultural barriers to break down. However, “Salud 360”, as well as Red Deporte, has this objective in the medium term.

To advance in preventing abuses against women of all ages, awareness-raising activities are carried out, aimed at families, as well as community and religious leaders. Our approach is based on something as simple as respecting and facilitating the participation of girls in sports activity, since multiple traditions and conceptions of the role of women underlie them, linearly opposed to equality.

IMPACT ON HEALTH

So far, the Health 360 Project has had a very positive impact for the participants since:

- 63% say they are likely to change their behavior regarding critical health issues, such as the risk of HIV-AIDS transmission, as a result of attending Football for Health activities.
- 80% of participants declare having learned new concepts and factors to protect themselves regarding the critical health issues of the project.

CAMERÚN

“FOOTBALL AND RIGHT TO HEALTH” PROJECT

Cameroon has a long tradition when it comes to football. This is by far the most popular sport, considered an important element of cohesion in a country characterized by cultural, religious and linguistic diversity. The deep roots of football in Cameroonian society make it a tool with great potential to work on key issues in the country's development agenda, especially for children and young people.

Our project is mainly carried out in the Eastern Region of Cameroon and Yaoundé. Eastern Cameroon is a region suffering from high migration pressure (more than 217,000 refugees, mainly from the Central African Republic). This situation is expected to continue for years.

“Football and the Right to Health” aims to empower the local and refugee community on health issues. Both the prevention of infectious diseases and access to the right to health. The project emphasizes young women, as they are the key subject in health in Africa.

Our strategy incorporates health intervention along with health education. Regarding health education, we combine conventional talks and workshops with dynamics based on football, being in itself the essence of Red Deporte in health and development.

PROJECT ACTIVITIES

Basic health promotion, and prevention of HIV-AIDS, tuberculosis, malaria and COVID, tuberculosis and Ebola in educational, youth and sports settings. The activities are carried out through conventional talks and football for health sessions, through games based on football. The project includes the training of monitors in order to teach educational activities with solvency and autonomy.

The project includes the development of the manual "Football and the Right to Health" that includes protection on topics such as maternal and child health or the prevention of tuberculosis and Ebola.

Additionally, it educates on other critical topics such as:

ACCESS TO HEALTH

Make the population aware of the access and operation of the National System, at its different levels.

RIGHT TO HEALTH

Which is related to everyone knowing their rights to be treated without discrimination of any kind.

MATERNAL AND CHILD HEALTH

Aimed at groups of young mothers and working alongside specialists such as midwives or gynecologists in this component.e.

This component will be included in the "Football and Right to Health" manual. For the MATERNAL AND CHILD HEALTH component, Red Deporte collaborates with a medical team (pediatrics, midwives) to increase the impact.

PROMOTION OF WOMEN THROUGH FOOTBALL

Our intervention is based on educating young women on topics such as maternal and child care but also on family planning. All this under the principle of educating before risk behaviors occur. Training and football-related activities took place in Bertoua, Mandjou and Bindia.

In Bertoua, at the Don Bosco School, 1,200 primary and secondary school students

San Kisito School, 1,250 preschool, primary and secondary students, in Bertoua.

In Bindia, Bindia Public School, 900 primary school students, half of them refugees.

It is very important to highlight that some of the girls and adolescent students fulfill a childcare role very similar to that of the mother. That is why it is also interesting to educate girls about these issues.

COLOMBIA

During 2021, Red Deporte has resumed activity with our partners in Colombia since 2004, the Juan Bosco Obrero center, located in Bogotá and with whom we have collaborated in previous years. Exploratory work has been carried out in Colombia, and the groundwork has been laid to develop the “from field to employment” project whose objective is to rescue the most vulnerable children and youth from risk environments, to integrate them socially in the most effective way: through education and employment.

The project operates on two levels. With children, through education based on prevention against consumption and violence, and supporting their schooling. With youth, through access to training and employment. The employability project is developed through three main components:

“COMMUNITY LEADER THROUGH SPORTS” PROGRAM

Through training programs such as “community sports leader” aimed at young people who are not training or working. By completing this course, participants are expected to mature the idea of completing their education or training; and exercise positive leadership among their peers.

“SPORTS TRAINING FOR WORK” PROGRAM

Through the sports training program for work. Technical training is provided in recreation and sports services, in order to promote the labor certification of young people in vulnerable situations. The advantage of this course is that many young people who do not identify with or adapt to a conventional work environment (office, workshop) can find their space in sport to develop personally and professionally.

In addition, sessions and workshops on competencies and development of communication and interpersonal skills related to employability are taught throughout the program.

DEVELOPMENT OF THE SPORTS PROGRAM

Sport is the best entry point, connection and generator of relationships with vulnerable youth and at risk of exclusion. The program operates under the umbrella of a Sports Club; and through training and sports-educational activities, organizes and integrates sports spaces and classrooms, as well as public and community fields. Incorporating a body of monitors, educators, trainers, and interns who support the development of the program.

Regarding implementation, we have carried out a collaboration with Sabali, an organization created by Janner Puentes – a friend and collaborator of Red Deporte in previous years – and which works in a conflictive neighborhood of Bogotá through sports. From Red Deporte we have contributed our knowledge, experience and abundant quality sports material to support the program.

NEPAL

Red Deporte has set as a very notable objective for 2023 and the coming years the development of a program to prevent prostitution of young Nepalis and support for the rehabilitation of victims of human trafficking.

Nepal is a country severely plagued by poverty, even more so since the earthquake that devastated the country in 2015. In rural areas, thousands of young girls and adolescents migrate to the city in search of opportunities. Attracted by the image of the urban environment as a space of opportunities to progress.

The mafias that operate with human trafficking are aware of this reality. Taking advantage of the innocence, cultural deficiencies and lack of skills typical of their age and environment, they are tricked into crossing the border of Nepal and India, with the promise of a decent job or a better education. This situation is greatly aggravated by the fact that the border between Nepal and India is open.

Every year, 20,000 Nepali girls are sexually exploited, both in India and in Nepal itself. The project to be developed in 2023 consists of launching an employability and income generation component, more specifically focused on the textile sector, making room for girls rescued or at risk of trafficking. In addition, the project plans to carry out an awareness campaign in Nepalese territory, and reach all the actors in trafficking; families, children, police or government among others.

In November 2022, Red Deporte carried out its first work in Nepal, with a complete process of identification and development of the first agreements, fundamental for future implementation. The work has been developed together with the organization "3 Angels Nepal", with more than 20 years of experience and a consolidated track record in this field and which will be able to create that connection between us and the Nepalese reality.

The program will incorporate a sports component, essential to reinforce the youth empowerment process, mainly in educational centers. In addition, a sports club will be launched equally focused on uniting and empowering young Nepalese women. Finally, the project plans to raise awareness in the local and international community of the scope of the phenomenon of human trafficking, one of the cruelest realities that exists globally.

EUROPEAN PROJECTS

SPORT NFE – SPORTS AND NON-FORMAL EDUCATION

Sports can become a powerful educational tool. Exploring its limits and possibilities is the objective of the SPORT-NFE project, which is carried out in collaboration with five European partners.

To this end, we have developed a teaching package that allows us to distinguish the boundaries between formal, non-formal and informal education, and the impact that sport can play in these areas. In addition, a manual has been created that serves as guidance to promote and use sport as an educational tool, and an online platform aimed at social organizations that wish to promote education outside the classroom and through sport. More information at sportandnfe.eu.

QLS4G - “SPORTS FOR GOOD” QUALITY SEAL

The “Quality Label Sport for Good” (QLS4G) project aims to implement a quality seal for sports organizations, which certifies their adherence to social programs or initiatives through sport.

This seal is not only seen as an element that enhances the club’s image and its social mission. Rather, it involves a learning process through which organizations can be strengthened in aspects such as governance, diversity or the use of sport for social change.

The project contemplates the creation of a platform for certification, in collaboration with several European partners.

SENTRY – VISIBILIZATION, PREVENTION AND MEDIATION OF DISCRIMINATION IN SPORTS

This program aims to fight against discrimination that occurs in the field of sports and from various spheres, such as ethnic, religious, gender, sexual orientation, or cultural, to give some examples. The project has created a system that allows social and sports organizations to identify and report cases of discrimination, preferably in the sports field, but without forgetting others that may occur in other situations in life.

Other components are the creation of the “Sentry” manual aimed at social organizations that want to implement this methodology, and also multiply the effect of the project through events that make “Sentry” known. The program has been worked on with various European partners over three years. More information at sentrysport.org.

EXITCAN – SPORTS AND HEALTH

Red Deporte is committed to health as an essential field for human development from three spheres: physical, mental and social health. EXITCAN is a project that allows us to explore how physical exercise becomes a therapeutic tool for children undergoing cancer treatment.

This program is unique, since it replaces the concept of community sport in which we are used to moving, with an approach focused on individual health and aimed at very specific cases.

This project delves into exercise techniques for children, which allow the treatment to be carried out in a less aggressive way. The project makes known the benefits of alternative exercise to families and children, through a manual and an online platform for this purpose. With EXITCAN we hope to bring a little more hope to all of them. The project incorporates five European entities that are experts in health and sports.

During the project we have held meetings at the headquarters of the other project partners, such as the European University of Cyprus, where the steps to follow and the dissemination of the project were discussed to reach as many people as possible.

SPORT FOR ACTIVE AGING – SPORTS IN ADULTHOOD

Today the practice of sports has no limits, as far as age is concerned. But it is also true that the curve of practitioners decreases as it advances. In a certain way, because the term “sport” is associated with the practice of more conventional sports such as football, basketball or tennis. Today much progress has been made in the development of physical activity and sports disciplines adapted to any age.

And this is precisely the objective of the SACTAGE project, to explore the potential of sport as a tool for health, both physical, mental and social, at an advanced age. The project has carried out research and applied practice, which has been reflected in a manual produced by SACTAGE. In addition, monitors have been trained to implement both sport and physical activity, adapted to the needs of the senior group. SACTAGE is a project carried out thanks to the collaboration of four European sports and social entities.

REBOKIN - KINBALL E INCLUSIÓN DE POBLACIÓN REFUGIADA

The REBOKIN project incorporates the sport of kinball, still very new at a global level, as a playing field between vulnerable groups, such as refugees, asylum seekers or migrants at risk of social exclusion.

This project has expanded the practice of this sport among social organizations, for which it was completely unknown until now. The positive element is that both men and women have started from the same starting point. In fact, it is mandatory in this sport to play in mixed teams.

The project has been worked in schools and social centers, verifying how kinball fascinates the youngest people. Being so unknown, one objective has been to train monitors in the implementation and development of this sport. Red Deporte has worked together with four European partners in the success of this project.

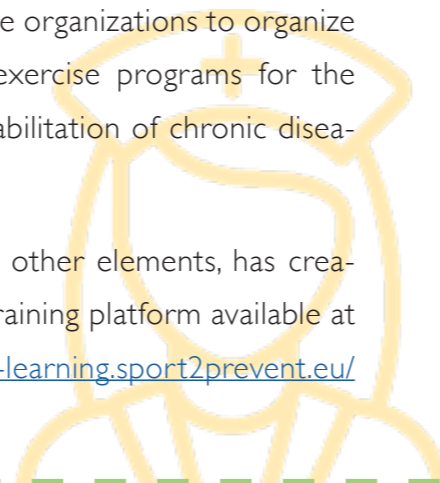

PREVENT – PREVENTION OF CHRONIC DISEASES THROUGH SPORTS

This health-focused project has had the mission of informing citizens about the health benefits of exercise, preventing and recovering from chronic diseases, and guiding them for safe and effective participation in organized exercise programs.

Additionally, it has been responsible for raising awareness to participate in systematic exercise and updating them with the most up-to-date research data on appropriate forms of exercise, depending on the specificity of the disease.

The project has sensitized and trained doctors, health professionals (nurses, physiotherapists, psychologists) and exercise professionals for the safe and effective use of exercise as a means of prevention and recovery from chronic diseases. In addition, it has oriented public, municipal and private organizations to organize safe and effective exercise programs for the prevention and rehabilitation of chronic diseases.

The project, among other elements, has created a learning and training platform available at the link: <https://e-learning.sport2prevent.eu/en-us/>

PLAY LEARN – SPORTS AND GAMES AS A SOCIAL INTEGRATION TOOL

The project has been carried out together with four prestigious European partners, to together build a methodology for the integration and development of children and young people through play, and more specifically, traditional, simple and easy-to-implement games, such as development tools for children and young people. The project's most notable product is the production of a manual, which includes numerous games as a compilation, and also provides guidelines for their better implementation and training of the monitors and educators who carry out the implementation of the games. educational, psychomotor and integration activities with the children and youth group.

SPORT INCLUSIVE – SPORT AS A TOOL OF SOCIAL INCLUSION

The objective of the Sport Inclusive program is to provide sports professionals, sports coaches and instructors with innovative methods, tools and support materials to promote the social inclusion of immigrants and refugees through sport.

To this end, organizations with expert knowledge in the field of social inclusion have developed an e-learning platform that allows sports professionals to design and implement sports activities for social promotion for the inclusion of immigrants and refugees.

The platform has been tested by the project partners and translated into five languages. Events have been held nationwide for its dissemination, and numerous learning tools and tutorials have been developed available on the project platform. More information at <https://www.es.sportinclusive.eu/>

SAND GAMES – GAMES IN SAND ENVIRONMENT FOR INCLUSION

The “Sand Games” project aims to carry out a replicable sporting event for clubs, using sand games, in order to promote the inclusion, empowerment and employability of young refugees (8-24 years) in Europe and the world.

Four organizations from Greece, Italy, Spain and Romania have worked together to develop the “Sand Games”, a prototype sporting event, to implement the first Pilot sporting event and disseminate the results, in order to achieve impact at a local, regional level, national and European.

The impact of the project focuses on increasing awareness of how sport can contribute to social inclusion and economic development; increase local interaction with refugee camps and places to achieve a decrease in xenophobia; supply sports inclusion tools for European and international organizations; drive greater engagement of refugees with the local labor market, and increase the visibility of EU actions and the role of the Erasmus+ program in promoting sport and social inclusion.

EASYBASKET – INCLUSIVE BASKETBALL

The Easybasket project aims to develop a new, completely experimental basketball teaching model, aimed mainly at children. The necessary training is provided to coaches, so that they can later spread this modality throughout Europe. Easybasket’s philosophy is based on facilitating and simplifying the game of basketball, making it more accessible and easier for children.

The project has developed an e-learning platform and a manual with all the Easybasket rules and methodological guidelines to put it into practice in European territory. The guide has been translated into five European languages and will be used in the future by all trainers. In addition, all multimedia material will be available on the website.

In Spain, the learning sessions were held at the facilities of the European University of Madrid, being led magnificently by Professor Rafael Navarro. We greatly appreciate the team made up of Rafa Navarro, Judit Solanas and Jaime Casanova for their involvement.

Easybasket is based on the concept of “Sport for All”, prioritizing a sports model aimed at enjoying practice, making friends and developing as people. Easybasket is undoubtedly an ally of this way of understanding sport. More information at <http://easybasket.eu/>

FISSIIIIII FIS4YES – FOOTBALL AND INTEGRATION IN THE SCHOOL ENVIRONMENT IIIIIIIII

The FIS4yes Project is aimed at helping students complete their education through sports programs. It helps promote physical activity and healthy lifestyles among young people.

The specific objectives of the project are: to share experiences in education through sports; Raise awareness about the potential of sport and its positive effects for individual development, well-being, empowerment and active participation in social life.

The project works with more than 1,000 boys, girls and young students aged 6 to 17, particularly disadvantaged groups and those at risk of school exclusion.

The project focuses on exchanging good practices, ideas and models in promoting education through youth sports programs. The football tournaments will be organized within the framework of the European Sports Week 2020.

EMSCO – PROMOTING MENTORING SKILLS IN SPORTS MONITORS

The object of the project is to enhance the figure of sports coaches and operators, as educators of children and young people. The project explores good coaching practices, in terms of knowledge, skills and competencies related to sports teaching. Special emphasis is placed on the development of soft skills, such as listening, empathy and communication. This practice is also oriented towards teamwork in a sporting context.

The project develops activities such as research into the training practices of coaches in each partner country; the comparison between coach training methods and the creation of the manual on Improving mentoring skills in sports coaches.

BIKE ENCOUNTERS – BICYCLE AS A SOCIAL INCLUSION TOOL

This project, which goes beyond the simple act of riding a bicycle, was created to offer the opportunity to carry out intercultural and intergenerational exchanges, enriching the European territory with its stories and traditions. This initiative also supports the development of sports tourism in Italy, Poland, and Spain, and by extension, to the rest of the European territory, once the results of the project are disseminated.

The project includes research on the use of amateur cycling sport for social purposes, the exchange of good practices and the design of a cycling tourist guide aimed at raising awareness about social inclusion through cycling routes. Finally, it includes the creation of an application and a permanent network on cycle tourism for social purposes.

PROGRAMS IN SPAIN

||||||| MUNDO EN MOVIMIENTO |||||||

Mundo en Movimiento is a program aimed at facilitating social integration between people seeking asylum in Spain and the local population. With this objective, we generate an environment of trust at the individual and group level; using football as a connecting element.

The coexistence framework occurs mainly on the playing field. The training sessions serve as a meeting platform between the population seeking asylum and the native population (mainly, coaches of neighborhood teams). In the short term, greater confidence and well-being is generated among participants, while in the long term integration and autonomy in the host society is improved.

In addition to sports activities, support, skill development and training workshops are carried out to improve the integration and employability processes of the participating population. The impact is evaluated throughout the entire process, regarding issues such as integration or employability. The positive effects, at the individual level, are reflected in aspects such as more constant participation, greater biopsychosocial well-being, better sleep conciliation or more active participation in training.

Regarding trust in the group, there is greater communication and exchange between participants and in terms of social trust, a better relationship between the participating groups and minorities, greater confidence in the search for employment, increased ties with the native population. , or, move freely and confidently through the city where they reside.

To date, World in Motion has been held in Madrid and Valencia. In addition to numerous training sessions, meetings have been organized between the refugee teams from Mislata and Vallecas. The first was in Albacete and the second in Madrid, the latter sponsored by the Minister of Migration, Rafael Escrivá, and Vicente del Bosque. The results of the project can be seen in a documentary.

TEAM UP FOR UKRAINE - FOOTBALL IN SUPPORT OF UKRAINE REFUGEES

Red Deporte, en alianza con Common Goal, Red Deporte, in alliance with Common Goal, has carried out the "Team Up for Ukraine" project to ensure humanitarian support and psychosocial rehabilitation of Ukrainians who fled their country as a result of the war.

The Red Deporte project aims to increase resilience and reduce the trauma faced by Ukrainians arriving in Spain. The football sessions, together with therapeutic workshops, play a key role in helping Ukrainian families, children and young people mitigate their difficult situation. Red Deporte has implementation partners such as the Spanish Red Cross and Salesianos. Participants attend activities implemented by Red Deporte and Spanish courses.

Through the therapeutic power of play, crafts, listening sessions and football-based games, the rehabilitation process and integration in the host country is improved. The vast majority of participants report having improved their mood and feeling more integrated thanks to the program.

BASKETBALL FOR ALL – NBA 75 ANNIVERSARY

Red Deporte, in alliance with the NBA, has launched the project to build a community court in the city of Valencia, in one of the neighborhoods where there is the greatest intercultural component and close to the facilities of the city's main basketball team. This initiative has begun under the umbrella of NBA support for social projects in Europe, with Red Deporte chosen to be carried out in Spain under the motto "Live, Learn, Play."

With this project, a space will be opened to improve the practice of basketball, with a high quality court that can be enjoyed by all users of the city who wish to do so. The first works have been carried out, although the development of the program is planned to take place throughout 2023.

FÚTBOL SAVES LIVES

The “Fútbol Salva Vidas” program of Red Deporte, and supported by UEFA Foundation for Children, aims to educate and expand COVID prevention among the Spanish population, with special attention to the children and youth population, and more specifically among the immigrant and most vulnerable population. To this end, our educational program takes place, among other spaces, in schools with a high percentage of cultural diversity.

The COVID virus has become a global threat, and despite the positive effects of vaccination, new waves are occurring, associated with various variations and mutations. Therefore, our population and even more so our youth must not let their guard down. The International Organization for Migration reiterates the need for migrant-inclusive approaches in the overall COVID response and calls on countries to address the particular needs and vulnerabilities of migrants, regardless of their legal status, in the spirit of Universal Coverage.

The fight against COVID cannot be won unless response plans in all countries include migrants, especially those who, for whatever reason, are being marginalized or are in vulnerable situations.

When it comes to young people, we take advantage of soccer-based games to achieve our goal. We have already been able to work with more than ten educational centers in Madrid and the network is expanding, thanks to the training of monitors in the management of the manual produced by Red Deporte for the prevention of COVID- under our focus. Because the fight against COVID is undoubtedly a team effort.

Hundreds of girls and boys have gone through the outreach sessions that Red Deporte teaches in schools to learn through play the ways to avoid infections and detect Covid symptoms. Red Deporte has concluded “Football Saves Lives”, a project that has had the support of UEFA Foundation for Children, during the most critical period of the pandemic. Red Deporte takes advantage of 9 years of accumulated experience in health programs (HIV-AIDS, malaria and basic hygiene mainly) to stop the transmission of COVID.

The project has been carried out both in educational centers and in migrant reception centers, since various studies show that this population is at greater risk. One of the final results has been the production of a manual to support organizations that wish to work in the fight against COVID through football-based activities. You can download the manual here.

PROGRAM IN MADRID – PILAR NEIGHBORHOOD

Red Deporte has inaugurated its new headquarters in December 2022 in the Barrio del Pilar, Madrid, one of the most densely populated neighborhoods in Madrid and Europe. By having the office and various sports fields, many activities have been generated to unite the community of young people among themselves and with the rest of society. The Pilar neighborhood is very diverse and rich in terms of diversity and interculturality. Thanks to Red Deporte, a common space of respect, empathy and inclusion has been created. This is our main objective, to achieve cohesion and better integration of boys, girls and their families through sport.

SPORTS CLUB

Red Deporte organizes a sports club during the school year so that boys and girls can enjoy the afternoons doing sports activities while school reinforcement is implemented as a way to support them in their educational life. It involves improving inclusion in society and micro-societies and creating relationships through sport for development. Tuesdays and Thursdays are interspersed with reinforcement activities with the practice of various sports, always taking into account the needs of the boys and girls. Sports activities will be specific to each quarter and in accordance with the general and specific objectives of our intervention.

OBJECTIVE

Support boys and girls in their educational needs, while offering them sports activities that help develop their social skills.

RESULTS

- Support boys and girls in their educational development
- Promote solidarity action and teamwork in the neighborhood
- Promote a healthy lifestyle

The location of our headquarters and the sports and social program in this neighborhood seeks the following objectives:

- Increase the social participation of young people and their families in the life of the neighborhood.
- Increase the feeling of belonging.
- Improve social relationships.
- Create a space of understanding, respect, common empathy, where to share.
- Promote education, health and harmonious coexistence of young people in the neighborhood, generating a space of opportunity for all.

To this end, we carry out various activities such as the development of an educational sports club and summer camps.

NEW OFFICE AND TRAINING CENTER

During the year 2022, Red Deporte y Cooperación changed its headquarters location. We are currently located in Plaza de Padrón 11, in the Barrio del Pilar, where we have found a space that adapts perfectly to our needs and will allow us to achieve the objectives set for the coming years.

The change of location is closely related to one of our main motivations as an ONGD, promoting social inclusion. We firmly believe that sport goes beyond competition and physical performance. It is a powerful tool to bring people together, overcome barriers and build a more inclusive society.

This move has allowed the creation of a Sports Club in the Pilar neighborhood, which not only aims to promote physical activity but also to make friends, encourage teamwork and develop social activities with the children who are part of the Club Red Deporte. Our experience in the field of sports for development has

SUMMER AND CHRISTMAS SPORTS CAMPS

We develop various sports-educational activities (language workshops, craft classes, sports activities, cultural visits, etc.), with children between 4 and 14 years old. Education in values, teamwork, positive support and acceptance of diversity are promoted in order to include and adapt to the society in which they live. In this way, activities are developed so that children are cared for by trained people while their parents work and can have fun in a safe place, supporting families and work-life balance. Its secondary objective is to occupy boys and girls in their free time with educational and sports activities.

allowed us to have a lot of experience and knowledge of activities to carry out to implement and guarantee the proper functioning of this new club.

Our office is tailor-made to promote our passion for sports as a development tool. We have basketball and soccer courts in front of the office and a huge room to carry out activities and workshops that help young people develop different skills (confidence, critical capacity, effort...).

SPORTS EVENTS

Thanks to the collaboration of some sponsors, Red Deporte organizes sporting events to promote its activities and projects to the nearby community and its partners. Sports events are open to everyone who is interested in who Red Deporte is and what it does as an organization. Like sporting events, they offer children's sports entertainment and raffles.

The idea is to strengthen the network of sponsors and relationships with companies in order to continue and offer the opportunity to companies to organize their own sporting event in collaboration with our foundation.

ASSOCIATIONAL ACTIVITIES

BASKETBALL JOURNEYS “OVER 40”

During June 2022, a very special Over40Basket tournament was held. Every time the Give and Go team begins preparations for tournaments, they think about things they would like to encounter if they were participants. And with that idea in mind, ideas emerge, always original, always positive.

In 2022 in Madrid they decided to give Over40 a marked solidarity character, which is why they imagined the SOCIAL ZONE. They thought about the friendly organizations they encounter and how to organize activities to make the participating players aware of the work they do and also to offer them the possibility of collaborating with them. Red Deporte has been an important part of the tournament, publicizing our work for several days, through a permanent stand, raffles and participation in the solidarity triple, as a beneficiary entity.

In addition, our stand has had the animation and presence of legendary international basketball figures, such as the best Spanish basketball player of all time, Amaya Valdemoro, who is also an NBA ring champion, or Juan Antonio Corbalán, one of the best Spanish players of all time.

TRIBUTE TO MIGUEL DE LA QUADRA SALCEDO

The cinder track of the Complutense University of Madrid was once again painted with the traditional lime lines. Throughout the month of May, the different athletics events took place in numerous Olympic specialties on the track and athletics venue.

Education, health and integration go hand in hand through sports at the Miguel de la Quadra-Salcedo Memorial. Red Deporte had a permanent stand throughout the memorable event. There we have been able to raise awareness, add new support and publicize our programs. And among other activities, playing and caring for boys and girls who accompanied their families.

In addition, we set up a solidarity market where you could find everything from “Los Futbolísimos” books (contributed by its author, Roberto Santiago), to other publications, soccer balls and local African crafts. Which helped many people participate in the crowdfunding of my contribution “Fields for sport in Zambia”.

Thanks to the solidarity of participants and families we completed the MiGranodeArena challenge:

- With the support of “Cookie Lab” who donated a basket of their brand products.
- With the help of the publisher SM and Roberto Santiago, donating Futbolísimos books.
- With the support of Nike, which donated balls.

Our participation in the Miguel de la Quadra-Salcedo Memorial sought to unite the vision we have of sport for development and peace with that of the organization of the event and that of the legendary athlete and adventurer after whom the memorial is named.

SPORT AS A REFUGE

On the occasion of Refugee Day, Red Deporte, in collaboration with Casa Arabe, has celebrated the project "Sport is Refuge". The meeting was inaugurated by the general director of Casa Arabe, Irene Lozano, who highlighted that "sport is a universal language that can unite cultures and realities and become a way for community development."

After Irene Lozano, Carlos Beltrán, from Red Deporte y Cooperación, spoke, explaining the work that our organization does and, based on that experience, how sport is a tool of cooperation that contributes to improving the lives of people, especially those affected by international conflict situations.

The project aims to give the girls of the Palestine Youth Club the opportunity to travel and move across borders, and play basketball matches, among others, with the members of the Red Deporte team. On this occasion, the team arrived in Madrid on June 16 to celebrate several sporting, cultural and social events.

Majdi Majzoub, coach of The Palestine Youth Club and Basket Beats Borders team, together with David Ruggini, stated that "the initial idea of the project was not to cross physical borders, but to tear down the walls that young Palestinian women face in the fields. of refugees. If you help change a girl, you help change a family. And when you change a family, you change the entire community," he said.

The Red Deporte team has had a very notable participation in the tournament, together with Achime and Casa Arabe, and in which the women's basketball teams Fuencarral Vets, Basket Ladies, and ADB Fontiñas Santiago have also taken part.

3X3 SOLIDARITY BASKETBALL TOURNAMENT "WITHOUT BORDERS"

During October 2022, the 3x3 solidarity basketball tournament was held in the municipality of Parla, with the support of the Socialist Youth of Madrid and the Parla City Council itself. For an entire day, multiple basketball activities, a rap contest, music and fun were held to start the course off strong.

Red Deporte was a beneficiary of this action, and we contributed our grain of sand in the organization and development of the event. Our special thanks to Angi Martínez, alma mater of the tournament, to the Parla City Council and to all the participants in this beautiful educational day through sport.

PUBLICATIONS

Throughout these two years, Red Deporte has made a significant effort to make available to the Sports for Development and Peace community, methodologies and manuals on which our programs are based and that allow the sports community to activate and develop actions and projects for the use of sport as a tool for social change.

Here you can consult and learn, with the publications developed over the last two years.

RED DEPORTE & LOS FUTBOLÍSIMOS

During 2022, the acclaimed author Roberto Santiago has published volume number 23 of the children's novel collection, "Los Futbolísimos" under the title "The Mystery of the World Cup in Africa." The most wonderful thing for Red Deporte about this great literary event is that Los Futbolísimos: Pakete, Angustias, Marylin, Helena with Hache and company, travel to Lusaka, where they have been able to learn about our projects and meet our volunteers and collaborators, like the Carlos who This is part of the youth plot developed in Africa.

The book has been presented, chapter by chapter in the digital edition of Diario As, and the readers themselves have been able to decide on the fate of the adventure. If it is already fun to read these stories, Roberto Santiago adds a further degree of intrigue and involvement, allowing his readers to guide him in the development of the 18 chapters that complete the book. For the author, this is a double adventure, because writing a book always is, but even more so if those who direct the content are his own audience.

For Red Deporte, watching "The Mystery of the African World Cup" grow has been an immense joy. The enthusiasm with which Roberto has decided to bring his fiction to our reality fills us with gratitude.

"I met Red Deporte a few years ago thanks to Carlos de Cárcer and from that moment, I knew that his values regarding education and sports were also mine."

The experience of making "Los Futbolísimos" travel to the City of Hope, in Lusaka, has been one of the most exciting and nourishing adventures in the collection. This book, "The mystery of the World Cup in Africa", which was published in 2022, continues to bring the name of Red Deporte to the whole world along with a message of solidarity and hope that makes me feel proud. Long live the friends of Red Deporte and their incredible work in so many necessary places."

COMMON GOAL

Red Deporte has been a member of Common Goal – previously called streetfootballworld – since 2008. Over the two years corresponding to this report, Red Deporte has taken part in numerous working groups and workshops to delve deeper into how the optimization of football as a social change. They have been extremely interesting experiences and of which we feel very proud, in terms of belonging and adding to this football community.

In addition, during 2022, Red Deporte has been part of the “Team Up for Ukraine” project, which consists of supporting the refugee population as a result of the war in Ukraine, residing in Spain, through inclusive football and integration activities.

We have collaborated in numerous actions and projects with this organization, more than a friend, a traveling companion and a reference for the world of sports for social change.

FARE NETWORK

Red Deporte has been a member of the Fare Network since 2009. FARE is a network that unites people, organizations, sports institutions, NGOs that fight discrimination and inequality in football based on the principle that this game, as the most popular sport in the world, belongs to all of us and can boost social cohesion. The main objectives of FARE are:

- Challenge discrimination at all levels of football
- Using football as a tool to confront social discrimination
- Promote the creation of networks and international exchange of good practices
- Carry out activities to empower and build the capacities of marginalized and discriminated groups
- Give a voice to everyone who is fighting discrimination in football

All of these objectives fit perfectly with the impact that Red Deporte wants to have through its actions regarding EDUCATION, INTEGRATION, EMPLOYABILITY and the vision of sport as a transforming force in our society. Throughout these last two years, these are the most notable activities with the FARE Network.

ON THE RISE: ETHNIC MINORITY WOMEN AND FOOTBALL

In July 2022, Red Deporte was part of the conference organized by Fare Network – the European network against discrimination in football of which Red Deporte is a part – with a focus on inequality within football and how sport can be used to achieve significant social change, especially in the field of women’s sports.

The setting could not have been better chosen, the National Football Museum in Manchester, where, in addition, a spectacular exhibition on the early years of football played by women, at the beginning of the last century, has recently been inaugurated.

Red Deporte was able to participate in this event to establish the agenda on ethnic minority women in football. On The Rise was an extraordinary opportunity to hear from women who are already in decision-making spaces and who are changing the game and contributing to an agenda for change.

On The Rise: Ethnic Minority Women and Football proposed workshops, discussion panels, round tables and was a great opportunity to establish contacts between organizations that work with similar objectives.

Representatives of Red Deporte responded to the invitation to participate in the workshops and transmit our organization’s experience in matters of discrimination and sport there.

FARE ACTION WEEK

During the years 2021 and 2022, Red Deporte has taken part in the activities of the FARE Action Week to fight racism. In this case, a special place has been dedicated, with the celebration of football matches at the Vallecas Wilfred Agbonavbare field, where we were able to raise awareness about the importance of being united in the fight against racism, also in the field of football.

VOLUNTEERING AND INTERNSHIPS

VOLUNTEERING PROGRAMS

Volunteering is the human base that supports the work of Red Deporte. We need volunteers from different fields: for our intervention programs, people linked to the sports field, health personnel or educators. To collaborate at the Red Deporte headquarters you can also support yourself in administration tasks, awareness programs or communication, among others.

PROFESSIONAL INTERNSHIP - THE "ERASMUS TRAINEESHIP"

Collaborating in Red Deporte is possible in different ways. Many of the volunteers have arrived through Erasmus+ programs with Universities from different parts of Europe. In these 20 years, Red Deporte has expanded its network of contacts throughout Europe, which has allowed it to obtain volunteers from very diverse fields for the different intervention programs.

EUROPEAN SOLIDARITY CORPS

Sports Network actively collaborates with the European Solidarity Corps, hosting numerous students who can volunteer, thus contributing to the mission and vision of the NGO. Volunteers, like the staff, are a fundamental part of the organization, creating a balanced team. Volunteers can develop in their professional field and delve into the positive effects that sport has on development.

At Red Deporte we have welcomed numerous students who have been able to complete their internship program, thus contributing to the fulfillment of our mission and enhancing their training from the academic and professional fields. Contact us to do your internship at Red Deporte.

INTERNATIONAL VOLUNTEERING

Red Deporte offers volunteering programs in different countries around the world, such as those in which we develop programs and other associated countries. We have people willing to give their best in the field of health, education or social integration.

INTERNATIONAL HEALTH VOLUNTEERING

Since 2017, Red Deporte has incorporated health professionals into our international programs. The COVID 19 crisis stopped the development of this program during the years 2020 and 2021.

Starting in 2022, the health program has been reopened, incorporating professionals from the health field, and whose mission in the projects consists of:

- Teach your medical specialty in community health centers
- Participate in community health outreach programs
- Promptly train health personnel; as well as reinforce the training programs for monitors and educators in the theoretical framework of health with respect to development.
- Finally, take part themselves as educators in some of the sports-educational activities.

All interested parties can contact us through the usual Red Deporte email. To date, more than 30 professionals who have worked mainly in Zambia and Cameroon have taken part in our program.

We must remember that the presence of health volunteers is essential, since in most countries with a low development index, the rate of healthcare workers per inhabitant is lower. Thank you for collaborating with Red Deporte in our mission to bring health to all corners of the world.

RED DEPORTE

IN THE WORDS OF OUR PEOPLE

I did my “Erasmus Traineeship” internship for Red Deporte in 2021. Despite being in a limited coronavirus environment, I was able to get involved in unique sports for development and peace projects, throughout the city of Madrid. It was great to see the projects and enjoy working for so many diverse people. Red Deporte offered me a clear impression of the world of Sports for Development in reality: how much work goes into each sports project, so that the recipients feel integrated, listened to and supported. Red sport taught me the joy of playing together.

Melina Ruppretch,
Intern at the University of Bradford, United Kingdom

Working with Red Deporte in Madrid over the summer was a truly valuable experience! I learned a lot about the role of sport in breaking down barriers and creating a sense of unity. It was very rewarding to work in local schools and see the unifying effect of sport, how it unites us in the face of all our differences. During this period I have acquired very valuable leadership and communication skills, and based on this experience, they will continue to benefit me in the future.

Arezu Monzenshade,
Intern Student at Boston University, USA

During my time at Red Deporte, I greatly enjoyed the soccer program that skillfully integrated important life lessons regarding equality and teamwork. It was truly inspiring to witness the power of sport as a means of communicating social issues to young people. The program emphasized the importance of treating everyone equally and valuing diversity.

I was deeply impressed by the work carried out by the Red Deporte team and their tireless efforts in schools, which has a notable impact on the lives of many children.

Their dedication to creating a positive and inclusive environment through sport is truly commendable, I left with a deep appreciation for everything I learned.

Sylvie Goldner,
Intern Student at
New York University, USA

The internship at Red Deporte enriched me on a personal level, both because of the people I came into contact with in the workplace, and because of the people I worked with. I have heard stories and testimonies that I previously considered so distant and absurd. Hearing them told by people I saw almost every day made me think a lot about the reality we live in and how I can help to try to improve this reality. This experience made it clear to me what I wanted to do in the future: work as a volunteer. I think my experience at Red Deporte has been unique and unrepeatable.

Elena Ceraolo,
Erasmus Intern Student, University of Turin, Italy

My experience as an intern at Red Deporte was very positive. Organizing activities around the theme of fair play and inclusion, whether in schools or during events such as “Basketball Breaks Borders” with Palestinian refugee girls, was rewarding. Red Deporte has allowed me to understand sport as a fundamental tool for the well-being of our society.

Iker López, Volunteer in Madrid

The experience with Red Deporte at the Chilanga hospice clinic was very enriching in every way, especially from a cultural point of view due to the differences between our countries and from a work point of view, having to manage to diagnose and treat patients with the few resources that are there. Sometimes also frustrating due to the lack of material resources, and knowing that those same patients if they were in a first world country could probably be treated better. However, I felt very useful and would love to return.

Elena López, Health volunteer in Zambia.

I completed my internship at Red Deporte in the summer of 2022 as an Erasmus scholarship recipient. At first it was a little difficult for me to move around the city because I knew little of the Spanish language, but the people were very nice and welcoming. As an intern, I assisted with educational activities, a summer camp, and in the development of health educational activities. I also carried out research for different projects using the value of sport. This experience taught me to develop my initiative and manage my time well.

Sugandha Vatts, Erasmus Intern, University of Oulu, Finlandia

The internship carried out at Red Deporte gave me the opportunity to set up two projects around sports for development in the Barrio del Pilar. This allowed me to improve my coordination, management, and communication skills and in addition, I had the opportunity to participate and help organize the Unity Euro Cup in association with the RFEF, UEFA and UNHCR.

Milce Argüello, Erasmus Intern Student, from the Faculty of Sports of Besançon, France

My experience at Red Deporte is and has been very good for years, thanks to the organization I have been able to participate in very enriching events and conversations both on a personal and spiritual level. I have learned a lot about such important topics as solidarity, altruism, and tools for teaching and learning. I have met wonderful people and I will meet more as part of their projects. In conclusion, I am delighted to be part of Red Deporte.

Zaloa García, Volunteer educator, Madrid.

Red Deporte has been my home. Every time I felt a little sad, I was much better after spending time on the field with the boys and girls. I have learned a lot working with the Zambian team, in the experience of understanding children, it has enriched me as a person and I think it has changed me. The person I am today just wants to see children smile and be happy. Many thanks to all the people at Red Deporte.

Kester Astroid, Red Deporte educator monitor in Zambia

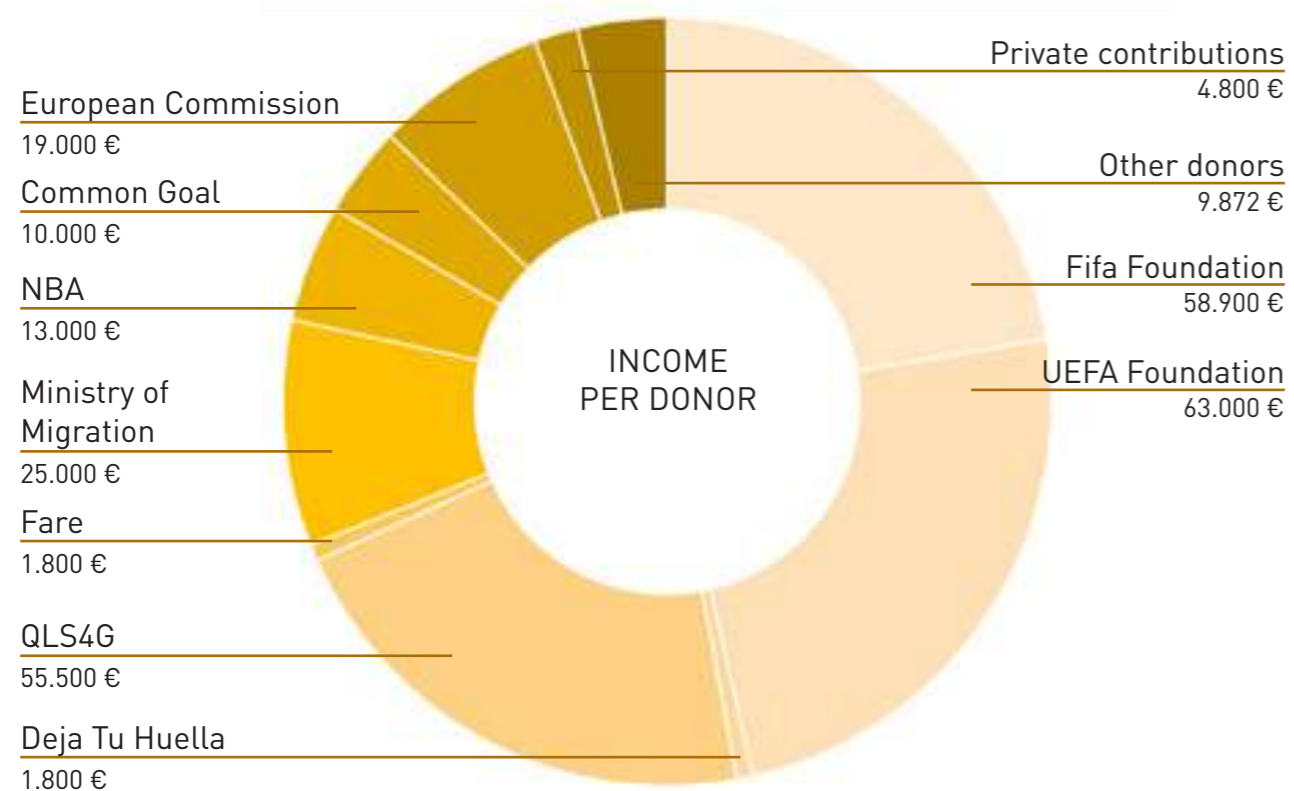

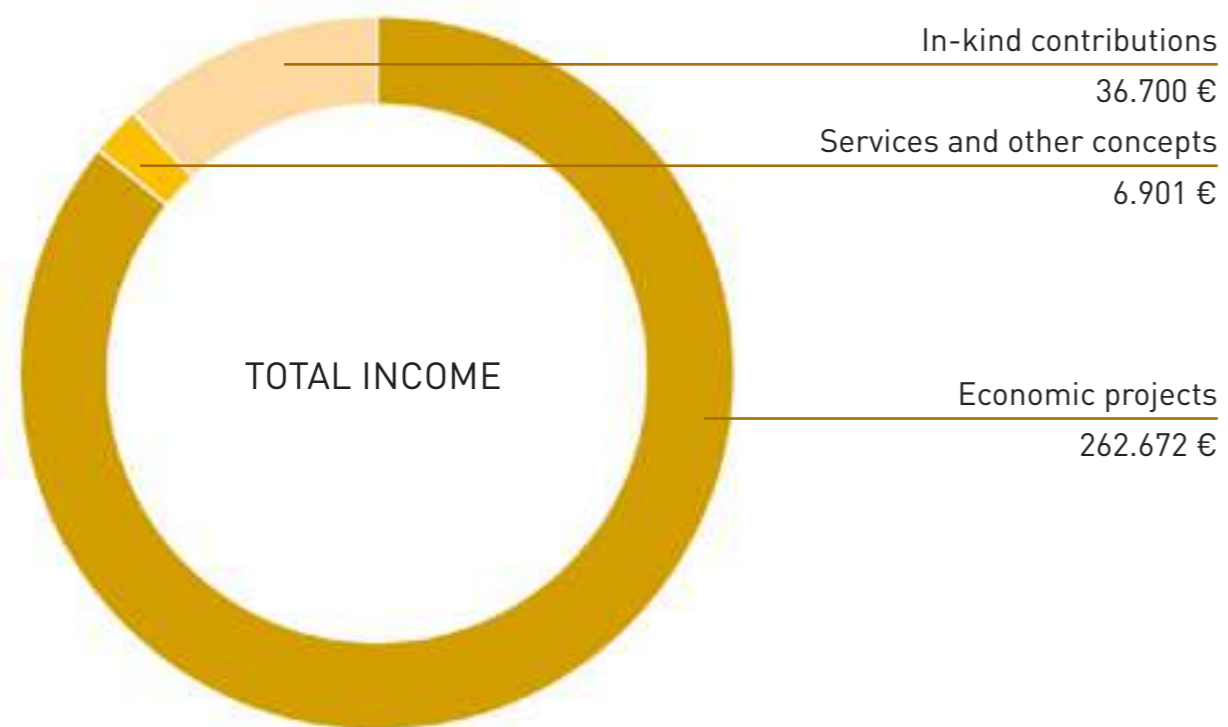

My internship at Red Deporte has allowed me to learn more about the world of sports for development. I had the opportunity to work in a stimulating work environment and meet incredible and inspiring people. I was also able to travel through Spain, Portugal and Cyprus with other co-workers for international conferences and European projects. Without a doubt an unforgettable and multicultural experience that I would repeat a thousand times.

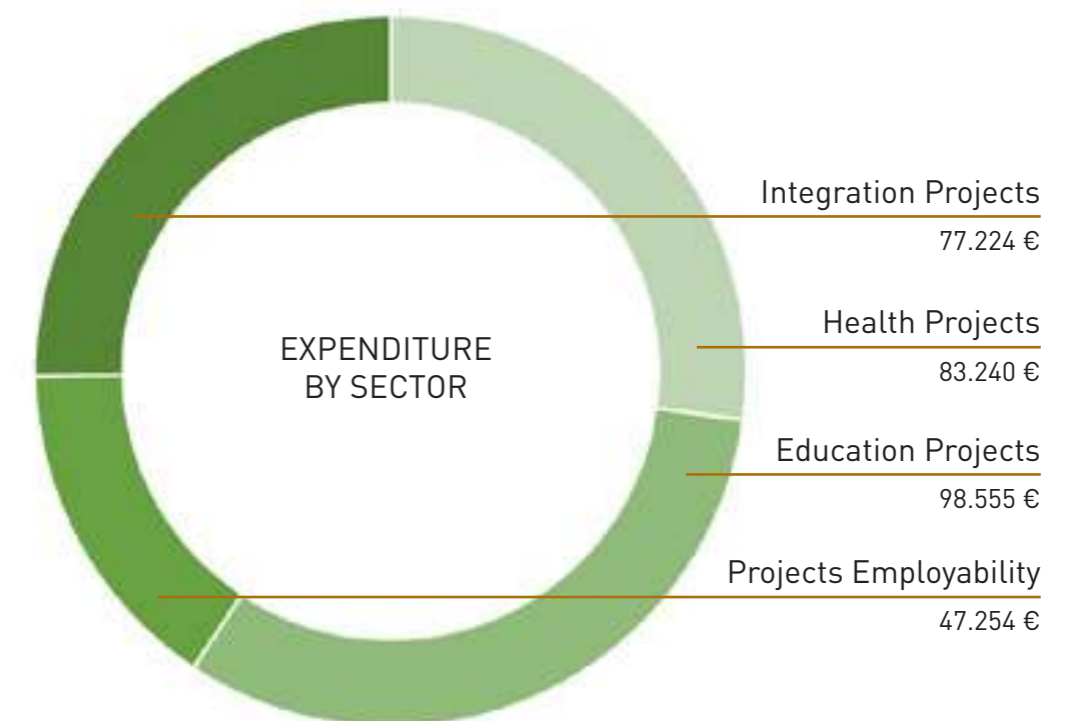

Stefania Cardone, Erasmus Intern Student, University of Naples, Italy
